Three amazing works to soothe in troubled times! Franz Josef Haydn's "Nelson Mass" is a thrilling statement of faith, composed in 1798 amid significant tumult. David Lang's The National Anthems exudes hope, as the words of various national anthems unfold in a beautiful tapestry of sound. And Reena Esmail's When the Violin bridges Western and Indian musical traditions by weaving a Hindustani raag into a rich polyphonic choral texture.
